- Developing Rapport Quickly
- Securing an Uncontaminated Statement
- Conducting a Proper Follow-up Interview
- Detecting Deception through Physical and Verbal Behaviors

This course is for anyone responsible for initial or follow-up interviews in any type of investigation. Many prior BATI Students are use this training as a refresher. Students will learn a new methodology of securing proper statements from victims, witnesses and suspects that will assist in successful case resolution. If your interviews are in person or over the phone this training is for you! It incorporates new concepts of information retrieval that are conducted in an effective, legal and ethical manner.

The words that people use are extremely important. They reveal true feelings and relationships between the speaker and other people or things within their statement. Knowing how to decipher a person's linguistic code gives the interviewer a tactical advantage. Some say it is the best way to detect deception which is helpful in the interview room or in the field for officer safety.
